About the Transportation Blueprint

Travis County's 30-year, multimodal transportation plan for unincorporated areas

The Transportation Blueprint was approved by the Travis County Commissioners Court on July 16, 2019. It identifies future transportation needs and prioritizes potential projects in the unincorporated areas of Travis County - the areas outside any city's limits.

How the County uses it

	Plan future projects	Identifies and prioritizes needs. Projects still require planning, funding, design, environmental review, and right-of-way acquisition before construction.
	Support development review	Project descriptions and general alignments help the County preserve and acquire right-of-way for future arterial roads.
	Guide transportation mitigation	Helps determine when development may need to contribute to roadway infrastructure.
	Plan capital projects	Informs projects funded through voter-approved bonds, Certificates of Obligation, grants, or partnerships.
	Coordinate regionally	Supports work with CAMPO, TxDOT, CapMetro, CTRMA, neighboring counties, and cities.

How Plan Amendments Work

Plans change as the County grows.
Amendments keep the Blueprint current.

An amendment formally updates the adopted plan. Amendments may add a project and alignment, remove a project that is no longer needed, modify an existing project or alignment, or update a roadway classification or scope.

Administrative Amendment	Regular Amendment
Non-substantive changes that do not materially change a project or the overall plan. Approved by the TNR County Executive or designee (who may elevate it to a regular amendment). Posted on the Plan website for public and Court information. Examples: • editorial modifications and corrections; • changes that don't substantially alter scope, function, or impacts; • actions tied to a state or federal emergency; • alignment changes within the original parcels that don't affect project limits.	Substantive changes to a future project's status, scope, or alignment. Approved by Travis County Commissioners Court, after a public involvement process with a minimum 30-day comment period and a virtual open house. Examples: • adding or removing a project; • significant changes to scope or limits; • alignment changes that add or remove parcels; • changes to right-of-way widths; • anything that doesn't qualify as administrative.

Amendment #1 includes regular amendments, which is why it is going through this public comment period before Commissioners Court considers it.
